Specialist church insurer Ecclesiastical received more than 60 claims from the area in 2010, putting Lichfield marginally behind Lincoln, Chelmsford, Southwark and Manchester in the crime league.

Combined figures made 2010 the third-worst year on record for lead thefts from churches in the UK, with a total of 1,484 claims made to the insurer at a cost of more than £3million.

Their direct insurance services director, John Coates, said: "With lead and other valuable metals fetching high prices on world markets, it's not surprising that criminals have been hard at work stripping churches and exposing them to the elements.

"The key message we have tried and will continue to try to get across is that theft of metal isn't a crime that simply affects the church buildings.

Talks on village survey results

THE RESULTS of a comprehensive survey to discover concerns and wishes of Great Wyrley residents will be discussed by the parish council later this month. Great Wyrley Residents Parish Plan Group, a voluntary non-political organisation, undertook the survey last year, canvassing the thoughts of a 5,000 households in the village and neighbouring Landywood. Around 25 per cent of questionnaires were returned and the results have now been collated by the group, which comprises of 11 members in its steering group.

This was closely followed by requests for better information on village activities, which has already been acted upon by both the group and the parish council with both producing brand new newsletters.

Another concern for residents was that of inconsiderate parking.

They are Lowbridge, chairman of the Great Wyrley Residents Parish Plan Group which was set up in 2008, hailed the survey as a success.

Part-time speed signs for safer school roads

FLASHING speed signs have been put at five

FLASHING speed signs have been put at five Chase schools as part of a county-wide initiative. Chancel Primary School, Rugeley, Fulien Primary, Burntwood, Hazel Slade Primary, Littleton Green Primary Schol, Huntington, and Wolgarston High School, Penkridge, are among a second wave of schools to benefit from 20mph zones during peak times. The move comes after the first part of Staffordshire County Council's project to reduce car speeds outside schools proved to be a success, when it was launched last September. Seventeen schools across the county will benefit from the speed indication devices from January to the end of March. County Councillor Mike Maryon said: "Road safety is a top priority for Staffordshire and the temporary 20mph zones have proved very popular with members of the community since they were launched in the auttum. "This high profile initiative is something that residents have told us they want, and we have delivered. The 20mph zones draw motorists attention to the fact that they are approaching a school and encourage them to reduce their speed accordingly.

**It is a scheme that could potentially save lives and one that I am keen to roll out across the county." # On the trail of a cycle challenge

VOLUNTEERS headed to Cannock Chase to help improve an award-winning bike trail.

The Monkey Trail, which starts and finishes at the Forestry Commission's Birches Valley Forest Centre, was Trail, Forest Centre, was recently voted Readers' Trail of the Year by Mountain Bike Rider magazine.

Chase Trails volunteers and bike enthusiasts gave up their time for the whole day in December to help extend the trail and make some minor adjustments.

The trail was opened by Commonwealth silver medallist and Olympian Oli Beckingsale in April and has since been used by thousands of cyclists.

It was part of a £200,000 project to improve the visitor facilities at Cannock Forest, which included 8km of new single track and some new-look features.

TRUSTEES are planning two restoration projects on the Lichfield and Hatherton Canals this year.

Restoration Trust finance director Bob Williams said severe weather slowed things down towards the end of last year. He said: "One minute you think you are on one track but unknown circumstances come along and you have treact to these circumstances." If all goes to plan, and the trust receives the right level of funding on time, the team can begin watering the section in the Borrowcop Locks Canal Park, between locks 25 and 26, by Tamworth Road, Lichfield.

The following part of the project will be to move construction further up the canal route, near the A38.

Trust chairman Brian King shot said they were in need of new volunteers, adding general helpers rather than specialised workers were required. For more information on the trust and its work visit www.lhcrt.org.uk

Mother-of-four Charlene Kollecker says she has had several near misses near her home in Highland Way.

Mrs Kollecker said there were lights on either side of the works at the junction of Springfields Road and Crabtree Way.

But traffic from Highland Way is not controlled by lights.

She added that in foggy conditions there was a danger of cars emerging into the paths of oncoming vehicles unaware that traffic might be coming out.

'I have to take one of my children to a special needs group and twice this week I have had narrow misses with cars coming head on towards me.

'It is completely ridiculous. There are lots of elderly people and families here and it is very unsafe," she added.

Initially 50 households in Heath Hayes, close to the East Cannock Road roundabout, were affected when electricity was cut at 7.43pm on Wednesday, December 30. A further 27 homes lost power at 1am.

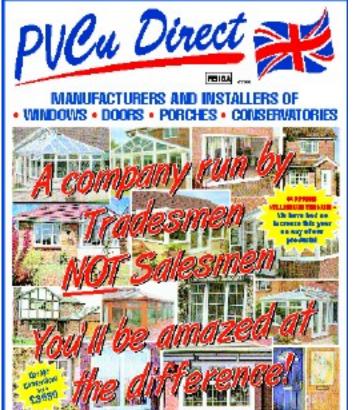

Engineers worked through the night to restore a full service to all 77 households by 7.32am the following day. Eon spokesman Scott Somerville said: "Unfortunately we lost power to 50 homes.

"Engineers were immediately on the scene and initially it was thought fuses were the cause of the problem. "But we discovered a secondary fault, affecting a further 27 homes, and had to excavate to reach an underground cable to put the problem right. We apologise for any inconvenience."

Inspirational' mum kept son from workhouse

Family fortune made by Lizzie's courage

Belcher is to tell him that he is just like his

Belcher is to tell him that he is just like his mother.

The 92-year-old grew up in Great Wyrley and will never forget how his entrepreneurial mum turned around the fortunes of her family and saved Sid from the workhouse.

Sid says in the mid-20s his father Sam had an accident, which meant he could no longer work in the pits. His mother then rolled up her sleeves and worked tirelessly to bring in enough money for the family, and went on to own a shop and three cottages.

"In the 1920s there weren't pavements on the side of the roads and one day my father was walking home from work and something hit him," says Sid.

"A passerby found him lying in the road with a severe head injury and from then on he was epileptic and couldn't work."

Sid used to live in one of the old wooden huts on Walsall Road, Great Wyrley, with his older brother, Bill, and two sisters, Jessie and Margaret. Any savings his parents had were soon spent and so his mother Lizzie took in washing and went out to clean other people's homes. "She applied for Parish Relief for us and when they came to look around the house, to see if there was anything we could sell, they saw me and said I would have to go in the workhouse," says Sid.

"I don't know why they picked on me out of all my siblings — I think I just was in the wrong place at the wrong time."
Sid was only 10 when he went to live with his Aunt Florrie and Uncle George for six months.

He was determined to help his mother get enough money. "I was only little but I had three jobs," says Sid. "Every lunchtime I took milk cans back to a nearby farm, which earned me three pence a week, I also delivered newspapers for another three pence and worked with a fruit seller on Saturdays, which brought me a shilling.
"My mum was still doing the washing and cleaning as well as looking after my dad and her children—she worked her socks off." Lizzie also started cleaning a shop called Wynnes Sweet Shop in Walsall Road and managed to save up £40 to buy the business.
"My mum was very clever with her money, she used to buy tea from the wholesaler and sell it at retail price to family and friends," says Sid.

"She ended up selling around 40 packets of tea a week and making a profit of 80p—she saved it all up and was able to buy the business." Lizzie built the shop up into a grocers and sold items such as sides of bacon, flour and tea.

By the time Sid was 16 his mother had saved up enough money to buy the shop, so she didn't have to hand over rent money.

Families

"During the war all the rations were either bought from the Co-Op in Great Wyrley or from my mum's shop," says Sid.
"Mum had the store, which was called Belchers Shop, for 36 years and ended up getting enough money to buy three cottages on Walsall Road, which she rented out to other families. When she was older she was able to buy a retirement bungalow for her and my father."
Sid saw his father had been a lively person before

"He was keen to get promoted in the pits, but sadly didn't get that far because of the accident," he says.

"My mother was amazing because she kept my dad alive and they were such a loving couple.

"In the end my father outlived my mother by six months – she died when she was 80 and after that my father just faded away.

ordered to tackle a list of problems after being visited by health inspectors.
Saleem Bagh, in Queen's Square, was told by health inspectors working for Cannock Chase Council to address several concerns which included having food past its use-by date.
The restaurant was visited on December 6 and given a two-star rating out of a possible five. A packet of ricotta cheese was found by the health inspectors past its use-by date.
In a report, the inspector stated: "It is an offence to sell or expose for sale food with an expired use-by date. You must check your stock daily and dispose of any out of date food."
The inspector found raw meat stored above yoghurt dip, which caused a risk of food poisoning, and salad was found stored below dirty shelves. "You should clean the underside of shelves and keep food covered to prevent the risk of contamination," said the inspector.

Jade Jenkins (aged nine) and members of the school calendar club celebrate successful sales of the 2011 edition at John Bamford Primary School and worked hard to produce year group calendars.

The children attended a "Calendar Club" after school and used their computer skills to create colourful, detailed pieces of artwork on any subject that interested them.

Atotal of 227 calendars were sold, raising more then £330 for the school.

Rebecca Marshall, teaching assistant at the Crabtree Way school, said: "The children did everything themselves, besides publish it."

The school, named after a Rugeley barrelmaker, was opened in 1980 by Lord Patrick Lichfield.

It celebrated its 30th anniversary in October, with the release of a swathe of balloons.

A FORMER opencast mine near Cannock that has been restored to heathland has been named as a Site of Special Scientific Interest.

I land has been named as a Site of Special Scientific Interest.

Around 115 acres on the former Bleak House surface mine between Heath Hayes and Chases Terrace was restored by site owners UK Coal as part of a land rehabilitation programme.

Natural England has concluded that the "mosaic of habitats" that has been created, and which now supports 140 wildlife species, is nationally important—and have designated it as an SSSI.

There are more than 4,000 SSSIs in England covering around seven per cent of the country's land area. More than 70 per cent of the country's land area. More than 70 per cent of the country's land area. More than 70 per cent of the sites are classified as being internationally important for their wildlife.

The heathland at Bleak House now supports breeding populations of dragonfly, snipe, water voles and great crested newts.

The heathland and its surrounding 200 hectares also provides a home for the largest population of skylarks in the Midlands, and a wide variety of migrating birds including tufted ducks and the endangered grasshopper warbler — which is on the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds Red List.

Throughout the year, the land rehabilitation team continues to manage the heathland area with rota-

The restored site won the Staffordshire Green Award for the quality of its management in 2005 – one of 10 environmental awards made by local authorities to UK Coal in the past decade for the quality of its land restoration work.

Home shopping? Tips on how to buy safely

shopping safe and stress-free SHOPS have devised a list of simple tips to follow.

A recent national survey carried out on behalf of SHOPS revealed that 65 per cent of people in the UK use some form of home of people in the UK use some form of nom shopping, including shopping on the inter-net and TV shopping channels but nearly one in four do not think sending money advance of receiving goods is secure. SHOPS, the organisation that protects readers on behalf of all the UK's national newspapers commissioned the survey to gauge public opinion about regulation in the home shopping industry. They have issued these home shopping tips.

BEFORE YOU BUY

- Make some simple checks about the supplier or advertiser and make sure they supplier of advertiser and make sure they provide details of their registered company name and physical address. Can you easily contact them? Is the advertiser a member contact then? is the adventiser a member of a recognised trade association who may be able to help with a dispute? A company may have a good website but it doesn't necessarily mean that it's safe and law-
- abiding.

  Check for expected delivery dates, shipping and handling fees, warranties, return policies, and other important information. Look for an email address to write to (or a phone number to call) if you have a question, a problem, or if you need help.

  Don't assume an internet company is based in the UK just because its web address has
  'uk' in it - check out the physical address and phone number
- Use a Credit Card to pay for purchases if possible. Items over £100 are p tected by the Consumer Credit Act 1974
- Keep details of the transaction includ-ing the actual advertisement or website page, confirmation of order on email or note the date and time of a telephone order
- the date and time of a telephone order.

  If shopping online look for websites that have a secure way of paying (known as an encryption facility) these show a padlock at bottom of screen when you are filling in the payment details. Make sure the web address starts https:// before you enter any personal information or payment details. The 's' stands for 'secure'.

Order from the comfort of your own home but beware

- Buy through reputable and trusted media, such as national newspapers which protect readers who purchase goods directly.

  Check that the advertiser is a member
- of an accredited scheme like the National Newspaper Safe Home Ordering Protection Scheme it's simple, just look for the SHOPS sign on the advertisement

AND IF IT ALL GOES WRONG

- AND IF IT ALL GOES WRONG

  If you buy goods on the internet, you still have the same rights as if you were shopping on the high street, in relation to faulty or poorly described goods. Goods must be delivered within 30 days unless otherwise specified. Non-delivered goods must be refunded in full. The Distance Selling Regulations give you a seven-day cooling off period so you can send back goods for any reason within this period and claim a full refund.

  If there is an unresolved dispute with

- sumer Direct for further advice: Call 08454 04 05 06 or visit www.consumerdirect.gov.uk, or contact the Citizens' Advice Bureaux
- If an advertiser has ceased to trade without delivering the goods or providing a refund consumers should first lodge a claim.
- refund consumers should first lodge a claim with the Insolvency Practitioner appointed to deal with the trader's affairs.

  If the goods are over £100 and a credit card was used to make the purchase, then consumers should claim from the issuer of the credit card. If payment was made with a Visa debit/credit it may also be possible to claim from the bank via the "Visa Chargeback" scheme.

  Consumers who responded to a

Injunction Orders - an overview

Demostic vision ce is sadly more common than is perhaps known and can be a problem for not only those on the receiving end, but also those responsible for the abuse, and any children thatmay be cought up in the situation.

If you are at risk it is nr you are at hisk it is possible to get help from the police and the courts in the form of an Injunction order to protect you and your children.

injunctions are court orders which prevent a person from doing a certain act and can be applied for in the blagistrates Court or the County Court.

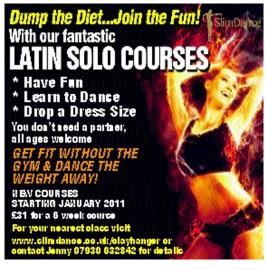

When a relationship has broken down in family situations, an Injunction can stop a person removing a child from the other person's care or taking the child out of the country. Other common country. Other common areas in which injunctons are applied for include situations where one party is harassing, threatening or assauting the other. These injunctions are known as "Domestic Wolence Injunctions" and can confirm that a person must not be violent to or threaten violence to the other partner or the children of the relationship, or they can state that a person is not, to come within a not to come within a certain distance of a property. In extreme cases an injunction can order a person to leave the family home.

Injunction orders can also prevent a person publishing something about you which you do not like. Or an Injunction can prevent someone from leasing the country or disposing of assets.

Whatever situation a person may find themselves in, a solicitor can advise on the law and the best courses of action to help best ensure a person's safety.

The system works with the vehicle's ESP (Electronic Stability Programme) to maintain the best possible traction from both front wheels. It has five selectable operating modes which can be chosen by the driver from a dedicated control mounted on the centre console.

All-terrain mode copes with mud, dirt tracks and wet grass by allowing a high level of slip on the least stable wheel when pulling away to remove excess mud and improve grip. At the same time, the wheel with the strongest grip level is given as much torque as possible. As the system is electronically controlled the torque offset between the front wheels can be as much as 100 per cent, well beyond normal limits for a limited slip differential. As the car gains speed, the system continually works

Victory with new signing Nick Wellecomme scoring a deserved winner on the hour mark. In a game which served as a superb advert for Zamaretto League football, both teams fought tooth and nail in front of a bumper Bank Holiday crowd at the New Windmill Ground. The home side flew out of the blocks and took the lead within three minutes when a near post free kick found Luke Corbett in acres of space to divert the ball beyond a stationary Dan Crane. Hednesford rode the early storm and equalised 11 minutes later when Jay Denny's perfect pass split the Leamington defence and Danny Quinn took charge to colly slot the ball under the advancing Tony Breeden. Two dangerously placed free kicks for the hosts came to nothing as the pace began to quicken, prolific goalscorer Jamie Rainford firing inches wide of the far post on 21 minutes while Perrow fired high and wide moments later. Five minutes later Perrow was brought down in the box and stepped

The Mariners continued to keep Chasetown on their toes, Harvey crossing to Goulding on the half hour but his shot went wide, and Goulding was unlucky again moments later as his shot rebounded off the bar with the follow-up just kept out by the Scholars defence.

McMahon stopped Branch's free kick before Rainford again missed the target by inches from the left, and yet another of the striker's efforts was pushed over by Acton. Richard Davies burst through in the closing minutes of the half but namesake Tony Davies produced a good tackle to ensure the half ended goalless.

Chasetown's Davies headed away an early Marine attack before Acton was called upon to make a couple of good saves. McMahon then dived low to deny Gary Birch on 53 minutes. Acton was well alert just past the hour mark as he got down low to stop Thomas Moore's header following a the Scholars of the Scholar

Six minutes later and the hosts' lead was doubled, a corner from the opposite side finding Moore at the far post and he headed home Marine's second despite the efforts of Jimmy Turner on the line.

Harvey then unleashed a mazy run down the left to outfox Teesdale but Acton was able to hang onto his shot, while Rainford was seemingly fated not to score and hit the side netting with ten minutes to go.

Branch struck a free kick well but McMahon tipped the ball over the bar, and Marine closed the game down as Chase-town played the last three minutes with ten men after Teesdale departed with a hamstring injury, although in the last minute the numbers were evened up when Moore was red-carded for a second bookable offence.

Chasetown travel to Nantwich Town on Saturday, kick off at 3pm, before taking on Newcastle Town on Tuesday (January 11) in the League Challenge Cup. Kick off at the Scholars Ground is at 7.45pm.

HONOURS were shared as chasetown boss Charlie Blakemore celebrated his 400th match in charge of the Scholars – the 77th draw of the manager's tenure.

At times in the second half, the standard of football suffered, particularly after North Ferriby's second equaliser, but, nonetheless, the drama did not cease, with a late nearly for both sides in a match the deep of the penalty area with a great a late nearly for both sides in a match the deep of the penalty area with a great with with a great with with a great with a great with a great with a great with a great Blakemore, who took sole charge of Chasetown for the first time in a 1-1 draw at Alvechurch in February 2004 was presented with a commemorative shirt before the game, and reflected on the 1-0 win over Blyth Spartans in the FA Cup in 2005 as one of his previous 399 games that stuck in his mind.

Of Blakemore's 400 games in charge, some 227 have resulted in Scholars wins, with Chasetown tasting defeat just 96 times during that time. The Scholars have rattled im 690 goals, conceding 287.

And it was the Scholars who took the lead here. After a bright start, just eight minutes were on the clock when a Mark Branch corner was headed home by Ben devons. It was the midfielder's 10th goal of these asson, making him joint top sorer in all

After Gary Birch and Richard Davies have recently missed penalties, Smith took responsibility himself, but, despite a powerful kick straight down the middle, Wilson managed to get enough on the ball to keep out the shot.

Two minutes from the end, North Ferriby had a penalty of their own after Chris Slater brought down Fry. Chris White stepped up, but Price made an outstanding save to his left to keep the scores level, and the Scholars smuggled the rebound clear.

Price had also saved a North Ferriby penalty from Gary Bradshaw in the August Bank Holiday fixture.

Arguably, the visitors ended the game more strongly, but, the draw just about reflected the balance of play over the 90 minutes.

Great Wyrley Boxing Club head coach Peter Hickenbottom said: "For the last six years we've been sponsored by Concept Elevators, who have been absolutely magnificent in their support of the club. Without them we wouldn't have moved on as we have done and I want to thank them from the bottom of my heart for all their help.

"To have an old boy like Colin supporting us is brilliant. He's worked long and hard to make his business a success and it's nice that he hasn't forgotten us and is putting something back into the club as our sponsor. "It's nice to see that in these hard times,

WEBSTER ENDS HYLTON HOPES

RUGELEY pro Mark Hylton dished up another upset to win through to the last 16 of the Ladbrokes.com PDC World Darts championships — but was then defeated by a former world champ.

The 44-year-old left-hander, in his maiden world event, beat former BDO champ Steve Beaton in round one and then followed that up with a 4-2 win over former number one Colin 'Jaws' Lloyd in round two on December 27.

A former air cabin manager, 'Mile High' set up a clash with another former BDO champ Mark Webster at the Alexandra Palace. But cheered on by friends and team-mates at his local, the Castle pub, in Main Street, Brereton, Hylton was beaten 4-1 as the Welshman progressed to the semi-finals before being beaten by eventual winner Adrian Lewis.

Speaking after victory over Lloyd, Hylton said: 'I can't believe what has happened – but I'm delighted with this victory. I was really up for this game.'

Hylton only turned professional in February after taking voluntary redundancy from his job with British Midland to chase his dream of glory on the oche.

He was introduced to the sport by his dad George
